We now have an answer to your letter of 13 August addressed to Mr. Dulles.

Your proposal has been carefully considered by our people here and we regret to inform you that we will be unable to apply it in our work.
It is believed that highly specialized needs are best met through other resources, and that a personnel pool arrangement is impractical because of the lack of attraction in such employment and because of the problems of administering and allocating work assignments.

Mr. Dulles has asked me to convey to you our sincere appreciation for your continuing interest in Agency activities.

Sincerely,

Assistant to the Director
